Our festival coverage has been off the chain in recent weeks. We've sent teams to the mighty Glastonbury, Parklife in Manchester, Rock Werchter in Belgium and we're about to embark on Glasgow for TRNSMT, Norway for the beautiful Slottsfjell and London for Citadel and Lovebox. Check out all of our festival stories and listen again to the chats we've had at these events via the Summer Sessions show page. Plus check out these festival playlists:

All the big names come out to play in the summer and this month we were thrilled to check in with Alt-J, Wolf Alice, The Horrors, Mura Masa, and Loyle Carner about their global travels and forthcoming albums. Emma Snook even had a sit down with Marika Hackman to celebrate her new release. If that wasn't exciting enough The Leaf Label's Snapped Ankles laid down an electro synth tinged takeover show. If you're into alternative 80's synth this is for you. Listen again here.

Our Album Of The Week slot is stacked over the next month. Every Friday from 2pm we'll be giving you new records from Public Service Broadcasting, HAIM, Declan McKenna, Childhood and Dan Croll.

If you have a favourite album or a suggestion for a new record we should check out then tell us via Twitter

Lastly, you may or may not have noticed amazingradio.com's facelift. We're pleased to announce that extra content is awaiting your perusal. We've also made improvements with regards to the speed and navigation of the audio streaming and listen again functions for both desktop and mobile. We're sure this will enhance your listening experience.

Journalists Wanted

We're always on the lookout for new music, but now we're also looking for journalists. If you have a passion for music and would like to write about it, we want to hear from you.

What do we want you to write about? Anything! As long as it's music related. It could be a preview or review of a gig, album or single. Want to interview your favourite band? Go for it. Have a burning desire to share your thoughts on Apple Music versus Spotify? Feel free.

Why though? Well, you would gain valuable experience writing for an established company, enhance your portfolio of work, create and expand your connections within your chosen field and discover new music whilst attending some amazing events.

Sound good? Good. Just email stewart.platt@amazing.media and we'll be in touch with more info.
